Research topic(s): ______________________________________________________________

PRINT BOOKS: Search the library catalog for print titles. Enter one or more keywords into the search box. Add quotation marks around any exact phrases. Limit your search by format using the facets on the left of your results.

1. How many results did you get? __________

List one possible title and call # for an available (2nd flr) print title? Email the link for later.

2. __________________________________________________________

eBOOKS: Select the Human Diseases and Conditions title (right click to open link in new tab). Choose one of the four volumes that might include your disease topic. What is the title of one article that might help you with this assignment?

3. __________________________________________________________

Use the Citation Tools (on the right) to change the format to APA. Select, then choose Email and then paste into the message portion before emailing yourself the article.

Search Gale Virtual Reference Library, EBSCO eBooks or Salem databases to locate more resources. What other narrower search terms can you use to locate articles on your topic?

4. __________________________________________________________

ARTICLES: Select EBSCO – Search multiple databases to locate an article on your topic. Use your topic combined with some additional narrower terms to locate academic articles.

5. How many results did you searched for your topic with additional narrower terms? ______

Look for relevant subjects connected to the articles in your results. What other new subjects do you see what you might be able to use to narrow your search?

6. __________________________________________________________

Email an article to yourself, and don’t forget to change the format to APA. Double check all auto-generated citations for accuracy.
MEDIA:

7. Search Films on Demand or Kanopy Streaming Media for media on your topic. List any titles that could possibly be used for your sources.

8. Place an “X” in the box if the database below includes this feature.
